Risk analysis

While Department of Health have demonstrated commitment in pursuing several NPPs to meet the needs of the agency, there is a risk that broader government policy changes or advice around budget processes may impact the ability to pursue these including for specific budget rounds.

There is additionally a risk that any proposal put forward, including specific items get rejected either by Department of Health in the first instance or in later budget stages. This includes for items that relate to external factors such as AUKUS.

To mitigate these risks, we should maintain a dynamic approach in preparing them and ensure expectations are appropriately set around any requests put forward.
